File System Publisher - Introduction

The File System Publisher will post documents to a local file. The File publisher will work as a rotating log file, where the user can specify how many jobs to keep in the file.

Features

Some features of the File System Publisher include:

- Keep the last N jobs in the log file.

User Account Requirements

To use the File System Publisher, a user account with sufficient privileges must be supplied. An administrator account is recommended for this purpose.

Windows or Linux

The File System Publisher runs on either Windows or Linux.